

Dover, Phila gridgers pick colleges

Muskingum and West Liberty have proven to be popular choices with college-bound Dover and New Philadelphia football players.

Six Dover High gridgers and one from New Philadelphia have announced their college choices so far.

Three Dover players heading for Muskingum are punter Greg Heller, defensive back Jeff Margletta and receiver/placekicker Mike Sudduth. Committing to West Liberty are defensive lineman Fran Brogan of Dover and placekicker Jim Roman of New Philadelphia.

Also college-bound from Dover are running back Steve Cox (Capital) and defensive end Brock Jones (Wooster).

Jones received first-team honors in both the Cardinal Conference and Eastern District last season while Cox was first team All-Conference and second team All-District.

Margletta also was a first-team conference pick while Roman and Brogan were second-team choices and Sudduth an honorable mention selection.
