

Students get scholarships

Mary Beth Fondriest of Dover, Martina Schelnik of New Philadelphia and Laurie J. Cole of Tuscarawas, have been selected to receive $500 college scholarships from the CAL-U-MET Chapter, American Business Women's Assn. They will be guests at the group's annual "boss night" dinner and program May 9 in O'Brien's Restaurant at Dover. Speaker will be Bill Hadley, who also is known as "The Deacon."

At a recent meeting in Bassetti's Restaurant at New Philadelphia, Connie Watson, who recently joined the organization, presented a program on seeds. She and her husband, William, are owners of Liberty Seed Co. at New Philadelphia.

Welcomed as new members were Judy Sobek and Denna

FONDRIEST

SCHELNIK

Brophy. Vocational speaker was Susan Fichner, a self-employed art designer. Bonnie Jones reported on a regional convention at Cleveland, and Dee Bolek noted she had donated $100 to the Stephen Buffton Memorial Fund for the group.