

T-R/Eric Albrecht

Under study

Glenn Fisher of New Philadelphia takes a close look at one of the works in the 12th annual exhibit by award-winning Dover High art students in Monroe Mall at New Philadelphia. Among the most successful artists in Ohio, Dover students had more works selected for the recent Governor's Youth Art Exhibit than any of the other 900 participating schools. During Monday's judging of the local show, Lori Zahler received best of show, while Michelle Kearns, Portia Thomas and Cheryl Van Epps received high merit. Honorable mention went to Bill Litty, Tom Morris, Brian Knecht, Trent Leyda, Trisha Northrop, Kevin Swinderman, Thomas, Zahler, Patti Miller, Shelly Sweitzer and Kevin Green. The display was judged by Eric Albrecht, chief photographer of The Times-Reporter.