

Dover juniors to get state science awards

Three Dover High juniors — Jennifer Border, Renee Milyiori and Brian Cull — will receive certificates of merit Friday at a program sponsored by the Ohio Science Education Assn.

To be held at Ohio State University, the program is entitled "Project: Honoring the Science Scholar." The students, selected by the Dover High science department, will be accompanied by Clifford Schrader, head of the department.

Ohio State and University of Cincinnati professors will speak and Kurt Sacksteder of NASA's Lewis Research Center in Cleveland will discuss the space shuttle experiments. Tours of the Ohio State engineering department will also be conducted.
