

Phila netters rebound

New Philadelphia rallied with a vengeance, thumping Cambridge 5-0 in area high school tennis action Wednesday.

The Quakers (12-1) had suffered their first loss of the season Monday, falling to Wooster. But they more than made up for it against the Bobcats. All three Quaker singles players whitewashed their foes 6-0, 6-0.

Troy Furbay raised his record to 13-0, while Rob Wherley improved to 11-1.

Meanwhile, Dover lost a 4-1 decision at St. Thomas Aquinas.

Mike Myers claimed the Tornados' lone victory as he improved to 15-0. He is the top seed among No. 2 singles players in the Cardinal Conference tournament to be played Saturday at Mansfield Madison.
