'Firsts' Have Marked City's Industry Scene

Daily Reporter Staff Writer

call it a "city of firsts."

far as Tuscarawas County is include the equipment and oth-concerned. In that year, the town had the highest population panies.

Dover's founder, Christian Deardorff, actually lived outside the town limits until 1830, oper-in the county 500 persons and

Though its population of 11,- ty in 1830. 800 by the unofficial 1964 census is 2,000 less than that of was located on the west side of the canal itself.

There on the town

city's.

Business authorities, without hesitation, attribute Dover's leadership to the constant establishment of new and expandablishment of new and n

Fifteen years after its foundation in 1807, Dover was still described by one early newspaper editor as a "sickly city" with a mere population of 46 people. In 20 years, as we have people in the local paper ready "The canal collector's report people. In 20 years, as we have people. In 20 years, as we have people in the local paper ready "The mills. Deardorff's original mill remained as a part of the Hardesty business, however, remained, with 2 other power city Garage, part of General Electric and Twin Cities Concrete.

Dover City Garage, part of General Electric and Twin Cities Concrete.

Dover City Garage, part of General Electric and Twin Cities Concrete.

The following people in the practically all mills.

Deardorff's original mill remained as a part of the Hardesty business until the flood of 1913 swept it away.

The Hardesty business, however, remained, with 2 other of its continued industrial sucsingular provided which the mill, were established within the city.

The Hardesty business, however, remained, with 2 other of its continued industrial sucsingular provided within the city.

The Hardesty business, however, remained, with 2 other of its continued industrial sucsingular provided within the city.

The Hardesty business and trading would be cleared at that point.

The canal collector's report of General Electric and Twin Cities Concrete.

The first part of the Hardesty business, however established within the city.

The Hardesty business, however, remained, with 2 other of the Hardesty business and trading would be cleared at that point.

The canal collector's report of General Electric and Twin Cities Concrete.

The first people is the period from April 10 to Nov. 25, 1842, as publicized by the mained within the city.

The Hardesty business, however, and the first people in the city of the mained as a part of the Hardesty business, the furnace provided them their second mill. Then, in 1862, the Dover City G or a 44 per cent increase in the significant fact about the early year later and then sold it to 2 decades. During the depres- business history of the town, Thomas Hardesty, father of the

To describe Dover in its in-ble real estate valuation of $2,-dustrial history, one could well 821,450 (lands, $238,910; struc-unequaled in that period, and 221,450 (This valuation their history continues right up For, since 1840, Dover has represents about 40 per cent of to the present day with the Dobeen exactly that, at least as the total worth, and does not ver Milling Co. on W. 2nd St.

the county seat of New Phil-the Tuscarawas River, and its adelphia, its tax valuation in people. In 20 years, as we have 10 to Nov. 23, 1842, as publicized ever, remained, with 2 other said, that figure was 5 times in the local paper read: "The mills still in operation.

The Hardesty brothers dominated industrial success and leadership.

The Hardesty brothers dominated the local milling business for many years, develop
The Hardesty brothers dominated the local milling business for many years, develop
The Hardesty brothers dominated industrial success and leadership.

In truth, the furnace at first had a notable history, finally turning into what is now constructed and paper read: "The mills still in operation.

The Hardesty brothers dominated industrial success and leadership.

In truth, the furnace at first had a notable history, finally turning into what is now constructed in the local paper read: "The mills still in operation.

The Hardesty brothers dominated industrial success and leadership.

In truth, the furnace at first had a notable history, finally turning into what is now constructed and paper read: "The mills still in operation.

The Hardesty brothers dominated industrial success and leadership.

In truth, the furnace at first had a notable history, finally turning into what is now constructed and paper read: "The mills still in operation.

The Hardesty brothers dominated industrial success and leadership.

In truth, the furnace at first had a notable history, finally turning into what is now constructed and paper read: "The mills still in operation."

The Hardesty brothers dominated industrial success and leadership.

In truth, the furnace at first had a notable history in the local milling business for many years, develop
The Hardesty brothers dominated industrial success and leadership.

The Hardesty brothers domin the local milling business and leadership.

The Hardesty brothe Dec. 18, 1915) reported 333,888 by Nathaniel and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men Shenango-Penn.

sion era in the 1930's, the cennamely, that it was chiefly a 2 men named above. sus was decreased almost 500. flour milling and grain productive when he died, in 1869, it also in the county, 598 persons, and If one looks for one simple ating a grist mill on Sugar was recognized as the center cause for Dover's early success, Creek. Because he donated 100 of trade, commerce and indushe must immediately select the Canal Commission and had try. It has never lost that posi-tion.

ne must immediately select the building of the Ohio Canal, completed in Tuscarawas Coun-lost his water power at his old mill because of the canal, Deardorff was granted water rights million higher than its sister seeming to cause it to grow of his death in 1851. Burnett, in city's.

sion of old industries within its the Ohio Canal in the county. This meant that practically all Mills.

Since then, the population gained another thousand or more by 1910. In 10 more years, in 1920, it shot up to 8,101, This short report points out a mount, and Hayden rebuilt it a 1920, it shot up to 8,101, and Hayden rebuilt it a 1920, it shot up to 8,101, and Hayden rebuilt it a 1920, it shot up to 8,101, and Hayden rebuilt it a 1920, it shot up to 8,101, and Hayden rebuilt it a 2nd St.

Dec. 18, 1915) reported 333,888 by Nathaniel and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty, ing even an export trade, some venture for its subscribers, men of which is still retained by like the wealthy Augustus Willow ver's later mayor, Simpson Haren and Eliza Welty,

From beginning of the century to 1930, American Sheet & Tin Co., was a main part of metal backbone of Dover's industry. The complex shown here lay along S. Tuscarawas Ave. and W. Broadway. The area is now occupied by the ing of the first railroads began 1864. to take away the important busness from the Ohio Canal.

32-mile branch of the Cleveland production. kind of industrial life was born vania Iron & Coal Co.

uting monies to invite outside a wide spread market because area, might learn well from the purposes. early history of Dover.

so business men again in Dover by buying a $30,000 bond to fi-subscribed $75,000 to the build-nance the rebuilding and reing of the first blast furnace opening of the plant in 1894. in county history, located at Finally, in 1905, Mark Hanna until its abandonment in 1927 when the owner, Hanna Furnace Coal Co. of Cleveland, sus- firsts." This title is based on

of its continued industrial suc- by B. D. Downey, John Slacker

Dover continued as a wheat sold to an eastern firm, known existence, its purchase in 1882 market and flour mill center as the Green Brothers Co. and by Jeremiah E. Reeves made until late 1850's, when the build-remained under that name until it the ancestor of the city's

In that year, Tuscarawas Iron Also, in 1886, another first Fortunately, the town's busi-sessmen were alert enough to and took over the operation of mills. Its 10-year history will be see the changes of the times. the furnace, making it a finan-described in a separate story. Already, in 1851, $20,000 had cial success. The company re- Then, in 1869, at the site of been subscribed by business built and increased the furnaces what is now Midway Lumber leaders in the area to get a capacity to 3 times its original Co. on S. Tuscarawas Ave., lo-

part of the Pennsylvania sys- izens put up half of a $200,000 Co., the first of its kind in the tem, from Bayard in Columbi-ana County to Dover-New Phil-a group of Pennsylvanians tive to the iron and steel in-The extension was bought the furnace and regain. dustry. completed in 1854 and a new ed its control as the Pennsyl- In a kind of accident, the fire

The birth of the iron industry ed in Fairfield, Auburn and dustry in the county, was found can be attributed to the hard Jefferson Townships to supply when people from the local labor and generosity of Dover about three-fourths of all the blast furnace went digging for citizens. In fact, those people ore used in the production of kidney ore on French Hills today who object to contrib- the soft-fluid metal which found Farm. industry and business into the of its superiority for foundry

Doverites again saved the As they did for the railroad, business after the panic of 1883

the bottom of W. 3rd St. From well known already to the city its erection in 1854, the smoke as a political leader and Clevestack of that furnace marked land industrialist, purchased the the heart of Dover's industrial plant and kept it in operation in connection with his Hanna The furnace's story continued Furnace Co. until 1927.

We called Dover "a city of pended its operations in the the events during the 1860's, purchase the Dover Mill and city. But during most of those when 4 new kinds of industries See DOVER 'FIRSTS' Page 24A

As a result, the furnace was start, the mill had a precarious vealthiest and largest industry today.

cal citizens dug up money to Pittsburgh Railroad (later Three years later Dover cit-finance the Dover Fire Brick clay which was to become the In addition, mines were open- material for the whole clay in-

> Of all industries in Dover, the most important, undoubtedly, has been, is and will continue to be the iron and steel busine The story of the Reeves Mills and later of Greer Steel has often been told. Here we merely attempt to straighten out the chronology and geography of

As noted above, Jeremiah E. Reeves purchased the citizenowned rolling mill in 1883. His brother, Jabez, had been super-intendent at the Ward Rolling Mill in New Philadelphia when he heard of the opportunity to

Page 23A, The Daily Reporter, Dover, Ohio Thurs., Feb. 25, 1965

Dover-City For Growth

Geiser & Kappeler

We Value Our Name and Our Workmanship

Who can better judge the sincerity of our purpose and the quality of our work than you, the people who have asked us to do your job. Down through the years our reputation has been protected by the good opinion of our

We shall remain devoted to duty entrusting our reputation to the most skilled craftsmen who stand guard over this good name with their uncompromised efforts.

Our service extends over a period of 35 years. We started as the Geiser Bros. in 1930. In 1945 when Robert Kappeler and Ernest Geiser formed the present firm of Geiser & Kappeler.

We have enjoyed an ever increasing business throughout the years for this faith in us we are deeply

Geiser & Kappeler

Wood Craftsmen 524 East Seventh St. Dover, O.

We Believe This Is a Very Good Time to Say:

"THANK