

Welcome to DHS!

The daily routine at DHS was well known to all its students. In the morning, most of us climbed off busses or out of cars and hurried to our lockers, maybe stopping at the Attendance Office if we didn't quite manage to make it to school on time. Then, of course, it was off to class. During our free moments, many of us worked diligently in study hall, while others busied themselves in the library or Media Center.

A Day

Though classes ended at 2:50, the day wasn't over then for most of us. There was always something to get involved in, whether it was play practice, a football game, or cheering at a pep rally - Where even our teachers might decide to get into the act!
