CLASSROOM NEWS

Our class hasn't done much since the magazine drive and our pizza party. We've been doing book reports lately and have been participating in "Wanta beat Phila" week. In Science we have been studying leaves and identifying trees, and in Health our class has been working on Physical Fitness.

A STRANGE WAY TO LOOK AT THE WORLD

In Mr. Connor's eighth grade classes, he told his students to bring in an apple, orange, or lemon. ~~I happen to be~~ in his class, and I brought in an apple.

No one knew what was going to happen, until he told us to draw on it. We all said, "What do you mean, draw on it?" He told us to put longitude and latitude lines on it.

After we were done, we saw what the world looks like, and how you can see its shape when you are in space. After that, we got to eat the apples.

We do a lot of fun things and experiments in our science class. I hope there are a lot more fun times like that one when we saw such a strange way to look at the world!

In Home Ec. they are getting ready to sew. Most of the people are making frogs, but there are a couple of characters that ~~decided~~ to make pigs.

DOOMS DAY

One day in Music class it was a normal day -- everybody was screaming and yelling at each other. Mrs. Toomey told us to start singing. We all were except a couple of us. One was Jim LeMay. He was leaning back on the chair when Larry Frey pushed Jim over on his back. Everybody thought he went right through the floor. Mrs. Toomey said, "Did you get a boom out of that?"

The funniest thing that happened in Mrs. Eaton's class was when M.C. told us his life story in Home Ec. First he told us that a Bugs Bunny cup fell off a shelf and hit him between his eyes. Finally, at the end of his story, he told us that he had a rough life when he was a little kid.

Third Period in Mrs. Morris' room we were reading answers for an English assignment when Jodi White raised her hand to give an answer.

Jodi had gone hoarse over the weekend, and her voice squeaked when she read her answer. Everyone, even Mrs. Morris, started laughing at her.

All of the rest of the period everyone made fun of her squeaking voice.

MIDDLE SCHOOL CLASHES FOR CRUNCH ON QUAKERS

November first was clash day. A lot of kids dressed up. Kim Meese wore three pony tails, one on each side of her head. Kim had black freckles all over her cheeks and nose.

Polly Armstrong wore a sweater that her dad had worn. It was red and white. She also wore an orange tie. We all had fun. We had fun at the pep rally, too.

Hi! from Mr. Daniel's homeroom and 1st period English class. Well, we've managed to make it through the first nine weeks of school.

In English, we've studied grammar and sentence patterns. Now we are writing stories. We've already written one on how you would have to adapt if you lost one of your five senses. We are looking forward to writing more.

For the magazine sales we thought we did really well, selling a grand total of magazines and raising $638.00

In Mr. Daniel's homeroom we have a new student named Mike Tindall. He came from Hastings, Michigan and went to Hastings School.

Everyone was real excited about the A Team's victory over New Philadelphia in football, 20-0.

Room 122 has gotten two new boys this past month, Tom Arrington from St. Sabastian School in Akron, Ohio, and Mark Burrell from Fulton Junior High in Heath, Ohio.

I asked them how they liked Dover Middle School, and they both said they really liked it and mentioned how nice the kids are.

This is a big season for sports in our class, too. We have two kids in Cross Country, Dan VanEpps, and Lori Lengler, and three kids in football - Dan Hurst, Steve Slentz, and Jim Maple.

They are Bejoy Tripathy, Bartt Cochennour, Chris Heffner, Shelly Slemmer, Jimmy Eichel, and Jamie Walters. We have a boy from India in our class. His name is Sam Shah; he can speak English and Indian. Well, have a nice Thanksgiving.

POETRY CORNER

POEM

One sunny bright day,
I went out side to play.
I met a big turkey,
Boy he was jurkey.
When I asked him why,
He said with a sigh,
This is Thanksgiving Day.

FALL MORNING

On one beautiful fall morning I went a walking through the woods.
I love to hear the leaves and the sticks a crunching under my feet
and smelling the neighbors pumpkin pie.

by Doug Swihart

On land, a thousand signs tell us that fall is in the air. For comes to the land of ours brings new life. There is fall even in the different sounds of the wind
as it stirs the old leaves.
Fall is a fun time for leaves.

by Perry Schultz

FALL AIR

I love the smell of fall air.
The smell of burning leaves.
I see the kids playing in the leaves.
The smell of mothers making pumpkin pies.
As I take a walk along the lake
I see fishermen taking their last cast in the silver streak-water.

by Kenny Smith

HALLOWEEN POEM

Once there was a boy who was walking in the woods. He was being chased by witches and goblins.
The witch was running, and he threw a torch at her and it caught her on fire! She was made of wax. The goblin went after the boy, but he fell in a pit
with stakes sticking in him.

by Lenny Umpleby

FALL IS HERE

Fall is here only once a year.
The leaves fall to the ground.
Most people are out raking up the leaves that have fallen into their yards. Boy, you can tell that fall is here.
Your mom is making you wear a coat or a sweater. She spends the whole day baking a pumpkin pie. Then winter is here and fall is gone until next year.

by Russell Porter

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving is a time of year to stuff yourself with turkey, dressing, and pumpkin pie.
And after all that eating you go into the room where your TV set is and watch the parade and football.
But that isn't all that Thanksgiving is. Thanksgiving is to remember the pilgrims and the rough time they had. It is also a time to be thankful for all we have.

FALL TREES

The prettiest thing about fall is the trees and the shedding of its leaves, and to rake them in a pile and jump in them. And burn them so I can smell them!

by Blaine Snyder

Walking through the glistening
snow,
While the cold winter winds blow.
Jack Frost will make your cheeks
bright red,
While you go whizzing on your sled.
He will always nip at your nose,
And sometimes he even bites
your toes.
When the snow silently melts
away,
It's not very fun to go out and play.
Jack Frost has gone till the next snow,
And you wish he would never go.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC

ORCHESTRA

Orchestra is a fun thing to do, according to some kids, but others say it's boring. What's it made of? Well, the orchestra is a group of string instruments; there's the viola, violin, cello, and string bass, just to name a few. They have a bow with horse hair that is rubbed against the instrument. The horse hair may fall out, so they put a certain solid bar of stuff on it.
The instrument has to be polished
about once every two weeks.

RED AND GRAY BAND NEWS

Introducing...the great trumpet player-our very own Mr.
Doug Goudy. He's our newest director. He came from Phila...er... a place across the river. He decided to play the trumpet when Mr. Polce suggested it. Mr. Polce took one look at his mouth and said he should play the trumpet.
He went to Youngstown University
after high school. After that, he started teaching at Tuslaw
High School. Tuslaw High has a band like our Red and Gray Band,
but he said that our Red and Gray Band is larger and has more potential playing ability. He enjoys our Red and Gray Band and expects great things from it. He always liked our music program.
He also said, "The Dover Band is one of the best bands in the state and I'm proud of it." In the future, he wants to have a successful career and he wants to raise a family in the Dover area.

CHOIR

Choir is fun. We are singing songs like "Annabell Lee",
"The Twelve Days Of Christmas",
"Jacob's Ladder". We have ensembles that meet on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays.

There may be an assembly. On Wednesday there is going to be a play and one of the ensembles is going to sing.

For the past couple of weeks I have been interviewing Mrs. Osburn, head of the cooks. She has really been putting a lot of work into making good meals for us.

I asked Mrs. Osburn, "What foods do the students like best?" She told me that pizza and french fries were the most eaten foods.

Mrs. Osburn is aware that kids know what's good for them, but they don't eat a lot of vegetables and fruits, they don't want to. They even eat salads like they used to do.

Mrs. Osburn has been working in the school cafeteria for 24 years and has been head cook for 6 years now. She realizes that the kids don't have enough time to eat, but the lines are shorter.

For the past few years kids have been complaining because they don't get what they want, take sauerkraut for instance, not many kids like it so it would be a waste.

Some kids don't like chocolate milkshakes, but more than half do. So, therefore, chocolate is the basic. So they don't make strawberry because it would be wasted.

I asked Mrs. Osburn, "What do you do with left over food that has already been cooked?" She says they either freeze it, to be heated up again, or throw it away.

"What about the prices of food?" All of the prices are determined by the paper, used to wrap food in, and the amount of food given out.

"How do you make the menus?" Mrs. Osburn makes the menus out every month. She goes by the state requirements and tries her best to give you a good meal.

We all owe Mrs. Osburn a big "thank you" for putting forth all of her effort for our good meals.

The Cross Country team did a good job this year. They came in second place in two meets. At Malone College, Steph Strimbu came in first place in a 2½ mi. race with a time of 20:49. MIDDLE SCHOOL FOOTBALL 1978

Before the games start, the football players go over the plays they are going to use during the game.

When they lose their game, the coaches get them together and try to point out their mistakes. When they win, the coaches praise them and try to make them feel good.

The guys are pretty happy when they start games, but when it is over and they lose, the happiness turns to disappointment. When they win, they are happier than when they started. They usually take wins and losses pretty well.

When a big game is coming, they work out and practice about 6 or 7 times a week.

When they won the Dover-Philly game, they were all very happy, but the coaches didn't give them a treat or anything. They were all happy just because they won.

The Cross Country Team is doing a super job. Under the supervision of their coach, Mr. Lenarz, the team practices long and hard. Their record is 6 wins and 2 losses, and they have two trophies which they received for 2nd 2nd place at the Fairless Invitational and 2nd place at the Cloverleaf Invitational.

In the beginning of the season the team ran against New Philadelphia and was defeated; but then later, towards the end of the season, they ran against New Phila and won. Good luck!
